

Special exhibit on national tour makes stop at Marietta College 10/5 & 10/6

Washington, D.C. – Rep. Charlie Wilson today announced that the Library of Congress' unique traveling exhibit, the "Gateway to Knowledge," will stop at Marietta College on Tuesday October 5 and Wednesday October 6.

"The Library of Congress is the largest library in the world," Wilson said. "I hope families and entire classrooms take advantage of this wonderful opportunity to see examples of the some of the many treasures stored at the library."

The exhibit is free and open to the public from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.
